RESILIENT PLACES TRAINING WORKSHOP

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

Sustainable Hudson Valley focuses on the social and relational, and the role of public spaces in building neighborhood scale resilience. While public agencies properly concentrate on major areas of environmental risk like shorelines and floodplains, there is an urgent need to help communities plan to withstand climate stresses including storms, floods and heat waves. This work is needed in every neighborhood. The only way to accomplish this is to train many local leaders to drive the necessary changes in their neighborhoods and networks.

SESSION DATES:

Session 1: January 25th, 2023 (5:30-7:30)
Session 2: February 8th, 2023 (5:30-7:30)

- Suggested donation of $75. Nobody is turned away.
- Contact Everett@sustainhv.org for more information.
- Deadline to sign up: January 18th
- Kingston Library, 55 Franklin Street

SIGN UP

Trainees will learn techniques and models from the most advanced communities in building resilience, quality of life, public health and social justice.

Facilitated by Resilient Places Coordinator Cynthia Nikitin. An expert with 28 years experience with Project for Public Spaces, working to promote resilience and equity through the redesign of key public spaces.

For local government and community leaders in institutions such as libraries, service agencies, civic organizations and community foundations.

SUSTAINHV.ORG